

MOVEMENT ONLY SPECIAL STOCKS

Speculation Declines in the Stock Market Again to About Last Week's Average.

EFFECT OF COPPER TRANSFER

Sale of Heinz Properties Deprives Stock of Much of Its Motive Power.

NEW YORK, February 14.—Speculative interest in the stock market declined today to about last week's average. The movement was exceedingly sluggish, except in a few special stocks, and in them it was less pronounced than yesterday. The day's trading offered a tame market, with the effect of the transfer of the copper stocks on the formal announcement of the transfer of control of the Heinz properties and the resulting settlement of litigation also offered a dull and suggestions to the speculative mind that the mystery being cleared from the stock deprives it of much of its motive power in the market. Gossip of Bulls and Bears.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—A member of one of the most prominent bull houses in Wall Street, not identified with copper interests, says: "I do not think the public has begun to understand the difference between the litigation means to the Amalgamated Copper Company. When the public becomes alive to the importance of this transaction it may be too late to benefit from it."
